

Kirti S Pawar, did her post graduation in Anesthesiology and underwent training in Critical Care Medicine, Pain Management and Bronchoscopy at various centers in India & abroad.

Recipient of Hansraj Nayyar Memorial award for the research paper " Effectiveness of higher doses of Pralidoxime in the treatment of organophosphorus poisoning- a randomized controlled trial" at National conference of Critical care medicine 2004 held at Mumbai.

Panelist for the discussion on 'Management of organophosphorus poisoning' at National conference of Critical care medicine 2005 held at Nagpur.

"Invited attendee of Agrochemical workshop organized by South Asian Clinical Toxicology Research Collaboration held at Colombo, SriLanka in 2005 ".

Research article "Continuous Pralidoxime infusion versus repeated bolus injection to treat organophosphorus pesticide poisoning:a randomized controlled trial" is published in 'The Lancet' December 2006.

Faculty for the National conference of Critical care medicine 2007 held at Kochi to deliver a lecture on OP poisoning.

She was invited to Munich, Germany to deliver a lecture at Bundeswehr institute of Pharmacology and Toxicology in 2007.

She was also invited to Orlando, USA for clinical meeting for the treatment of OP poisoning.

Faculty for National conference of Critical care medicine 2010 held at Hyderabad to deliver a lecture on OP poisoning at the pre Congress workshop.